

Life as a greyhound isn't always easy: having your injections at the age of six weeks; beginning your training for the race courses; having to mate with a complete stranger and perhaps worst of all: getting injured at the race-track. It can also be utterly filled with joy: when the encounter with that stranger results in a litter of adorable pups; when you win your first trophy at the races and when you know that you have found your true home with people who love and care for you. These heart-warming ~canine memoirs, written by Marie Batey and published by Olympia Publishers, tells of the life and loves of canine - or rather - greyhound life.
